

5 JAN 1975

P-Goldsborough, Robert

Robert Goldsborough

Goldsborough heads Tribune Magazine

ROBERT GOLDSBOROUGH, assistant editor of the Magazine, has been named editor of the Tribune Magazine effective Monday, Clayton Kirkpatrick, editor, has announced. He replaces John Fink, who resigned.

Goldsborough, 37, has been with the Tribune since 1950, and has been Sunday editor since 1972. He also has been a reporter, copyreader, as-editor of TV Week Magazine, and assistant to the editor.

Goldsborough, a graduate of Northwestern University's Medill School of Journalism, previously worked for the Lerner Newspapers, City News Bureau, and the Associated Press.

He and his wife, Janet, and their four children live in Glen Ellyn.

P-Fink, John

5004.01.1

Chicago Tribune